Etched in Stone
By Bonnie Weisz

Wind blown down from mountain tops
where fish swam
outside of history

and ancient breezes later blew more ancient dust to hide tiny winged creatures and vast majestic canopies turning them
into rock.

All rock and breeze
our history and our future captured in stone.

Memories in bedrock.