

On Politics

The University of Victoria's
Undergraduates of Political Science Journal

Volume 18 — Issue 1
Spring 2025

*On Politics is printed on the Coast Salish Territories. The
On Politics Team acknowledges with respect to the Lekwungen peoples whose traditional territory the university stands and the Songhees, Esquimalt, and WSÁNEĆ peoples whose historical relationship with the land continue to this day.*

I

The Journal

On Politics is a peer-reviewed academic journal published by the University of Victoria Undergraduates of Political Science. The journal aims to both encourage and facilitate undergraduate scholarship by providing students and recent graduates with a unique opportunity to have their work published in a formal medium. The editors of this journal are drawn from the undergraduate student body.

Submissions are welcomed from students during our call for papers each semester. On Politics strives to publish student writing from a variety of theoretical perspectives, both intra- and interdisciplinary, with a particular focus on uplifting marginalized voices and to showcase emerging undergraduate scholars at the University of Victoria. While published articles are typically found within the realm of political science, we welcome political work from all fields of study.

The On Politics Team especially encourages students from adjacent disciplines to submit work, acknowledging the existence of a vast body of political work that transcends the disciplinary boundaries of academia.

Copyright © 2025

Contributors grant On Politics the right of first publication but retain copyright of their work. Articles will additionally be published online through the University of Victoria Journal Publishing Service. This issue's cover was created by Megan Ryan-Lloyd. This issue was formatted by Coco Cunningham. Contributors agree to release their articles under the Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial 4.0 International license. Those interested may share material within the journal in any medium or format and may adapt the journal's content. Sharing adaption must attribute the work to On Politics and the authors of the affected articles. For more details, please contact politicsjournal@gmail.com.

On Politics does not reserve the right to exclusive distribution of published work. Contributors may enter into additional arrangements provided that first publication in On Politics is acknowledged.

Table of Contents

III EDITORIAL TEAM

IV ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

VI LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

1 HOLDING THE LINE AT ATHLII GWAI:

An Assertion of Haida Sovereignty

Mia Wieler

14 MOTHER KNOWS BEST:

Neoliberal Governmentality and Motherhood

Leila Purac

31 DECONSTRUCTING “CHICKENS FOR KFC”:

Israeli Pinkwashing, Homonationalism, and Contemporary Backlash Toward Queers for Palestine

Kaitlyn Kirkpatrick

43 THE PURSUIT OF INDIVIDUAL SOVEREIGNTY:

A Critical Analysis of Class Division in the Works of Karl Marx and John Stuart Mill

Emily Goodman

55 #FAKENEWS:

An Analysis of the Effects of Social Media on Democratic International Relations

Maci Clements

70 ABROGATION OF SOVEREIGNTY IN COLONIAL INDIA:

The 1857 Indian Sepoy Mutiny, 1919 Amritsar Massacre, and Dearth of Effective Accountability Measures

Raheem Uz Zaman

III

Editorial Team

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Coco Cunningham

Coco is in her fourth year, majoring in Honours Political Science and minoring in History. Her primary research interests and honours thesis surround the relationship between feminist international relations and military history, with a specific focus on sexualized violence in conflict, past and present.

EDITORS

Lily Gaetz

Lily is an Honours Political Science student with a minor in Statistics. She recently completed her honours thesis analyzing and critiquing anti-trans policies in Alberta. Her research interests include political culture, political economy, and investigating claims framed as ‘common sense.’

Marco Cioffi

Marco is in his fourth year at UVIC, majoring in Political Science. He is primarily interested in international relations research regarding the economic impacts of interstate conflict.

Mayuki Richter

Mayuki is a Political Science student in her final year of study. Her academic interests are human rights and civil disobedience, with a particular emphasis on the intersection of law and disability rights.

Raheem Uz Zaman

Raheem graduated from UVIC in May 2024 with a BA (Honours) in Political Science. His research interests include the comparative analysis of women’s descriptive representation in parliaments and the securitization of migrants in the USA and South Asia. He is also an aspiring graduate student in political science.

PROOFREADERS

Gracie Kennedy

Jordyn Kramer

Isabella Harmel

Kaya Dupuis

Grace MacMaster

Acknowledgments

On Politics would like to thank the University of Victoria Students' Society, the Department of Political Science, and the Undergraduates of Political Science course union for their continuous support and investment in undergraduate publishing and writing.

A special thank you to the faculty members of the University of Victoria who provided expert revision and advice to our authors:

Dr. Colin Chia
Dr. Simon Glezos
Dr. Cindy Holder
Dr. Matt James
Dr. Justin Leifso

Additional acknowledgments to:

UPS President Chris Camaso, for their continuous help and support.

UPS Vice President, Skylia Thomas for her guidance.

UPS Director of Finance Jenna Inch, for always going above and beyond in securing funding for the journal.

Political Science Chair Dr. Feng Xu, for her support, kindness, and guidance in this process.

Political Science faculty Dr. Justin Leifso, for his support and mentorship throughout this process.

Political Science student Megan Ryan-Lloyd, for creating such a wonderful cover design.

Political Science Administrative Officer Rosemary Barlow for her support and kindness.